Manus Uparach : .Q: MySQL search order by distance I have a table of road intersections where the lat/long of the intersection is stored in a column called "intersection". I need to search the table for intersections near my current location. I am using the following query: `SELECT * FROM intersection WHERE Latitude > 40.6842 AND Longitude > -73.9557 ORDER BY Intersection, Latitude, Longitude ASC` This works fine for searching the table in a specific direction. However, I also need to be able to search the table for all intersections within a 10 mile radius of my current location. I tried to modify the query as follows: `SELECT * FROM intersection WHERE Latitude > 40.6842 AND Longitude > -73.9557 AND (((SQRT((3959 * (lat - 40.6842)) + (1913 * (lng - -73.9557)))) 10)) ORDER BY Latitude, Longitude ASC` However, this query doesn't work. My thought was that the distance would be taken into account before sorting the table and searching through the intersections. I am using SQLite but am open to suggestions of how to accomplish this using other databases. Thank you. A: Ordering by distance is not what you want. That would be sorting by latitude first, then by longitude. Ordering by intersection would not work either. You need to also order by the actual 2d92ce491b
