A: It might just be that your student license expires in 30 days. If you need to have Autocad installed on your computer, you should look into buying a license so that you can have that license. There is also no way to run Windows 10 on Windows 7 OS. You will have to upgrade your OS first. House Republican conference chairwoman Cathy McMorris Rodgers (R-Wash.) issued a stern warning on the House floor to Democrats who would vote against the GOP's ObamaCare replacement bill. "A no vote is a vote against the American people, a vote against the working men and women of America, a vote against your constituents," she said. "Do you think your constituents are really going to support you if you vote against the biggest job creator in America? No. That's what we're going to tell you." ADVERTISEMENT "A yes vote is a vote to move this country in the right direction, to move this country to health care," she continued. "It's a vote to move this country towards lower and lower prices, higher coverage, access. It's a vote to be on the right side of history. Do you think the American people are really going to support you if you don't vote for the biggest job creator in America? They're not. So that's the choice you have." McMorris Rodgers is the second House Republican to threaten Democrats on the healthcare bill. Rep. Mimi Walters (R-Calif.) warned Democrats in an earlier speech on the floor that she would vote no on the bill because "some of my members have come to me and said, 'I don't think this does it. It doesn't get at the root cause of the problem.'" House Republican leaders were forced into a last-minute scramble to get the bill to the floor. The GOP, which has never had a successful replacement bill to ObamaCare, previously approved a number of amendments that they hoped would kill opposition from the left and right. But the House put off a vote on the bill until after a July 4 recess, when it would not be able to pick up more amendments. McMorris Rodgers said
