Use of the AHF08 diode laser for facial rejuvenation: an initial report of patients treated with the LightSheer Fraxel SL system. The ultimate goal of aesthetic facial rhytidectomy is to rejuvenate the epidermal and dermal components of the facial skin. This is accomplished by selectively destroying subclinical sebaceous glands, the underlying stroma and re-establishing a vascular network. The aim of our study was to assess the results of a series of patients treated with the LightSheer Fraxel SL system. The Laser Doppler technique was used to measure blood flow in human skin after treatment. LightSheer Fraxel SL treatment of patients with facial wrinkles resulted in significant improvement in wrinkling and increase in subclinical skin pigmentation.[Environmental changes during the past half century and their impact on human health]. In the last half century, humans have experienced multiple environmental changes. The ecological changes of every social strata and the health status
