In my book it says that the int variable in this class is created in the memory and when I create the object of this class I then fill in the values of the variables in the constructor. But there is no int variable in the class right? What is the int variable that I created in my main and that is also created in the memory? class Complex { public: int realPart, imaginaryPart; Complex(int a, int b) { realPart = a; 3ef4e8ef8d
