In this case, one main content and three sidebar panels. I would like to have the sidebar fill as much space as possible on the screen while also remaining in its current position. The ideal result would be for the header to be touching the bottom of the screen and for the footer to be touching the top. I realize this is quite a lot to ask for but have no idea how to tackle it. Any ideas would be appreciated. A: First, you need to find out the max-width of the available space 2d92ce491b
