Immunogenicity of cationized ferritin (CFT) as a tumor vaccine: a study of rat mammary carcinomas. The cationized ferritin (CFT) was isolated from horse spleen by the method of Kuchle and Montemagno. CFT contains 59 micrograms ferritin per mg protein. In the subcutaneous tumor vaccine experiments (with mammary carcinomas) performed in this laboratory, no significant enhancement of tumor growth or therapeutic effect of CFT has been found, in comparison to the use of the noncationized ferritin. The immunologic investigations in the same tumor model showed a significant decrease of the tumor specific immune response (as compared to the control group) when comparing tumor bearing animals which received the CFT vaccine.
