Our questions are simple: what did Bernie accomplish, why did he fail, what is his legacy, and how should we continue the struggle for democratic socialism? Get a discounted print subscription today! Kamala Harris is unlikely to run for president, but she's already got a question about the possible Green New Deal. Harris, the California senator, spoke at the Center for American Progress's Ideas Conference on June 4 and took a question from an audience member about whether climate change was the most important issue facing the US. "That is a very good question," Harris replied, without actually answering it. "This is where the president and I differ, but I believe it is. It's not the only issue facing the country, it's not the top priority, but it is something that we must deal with — it is climate change and we must deal with climate change." On August 10, Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, a self-proclaimed democratic socialist, released a resolution outlining her Green New Deal. It's as radical as the "new deal" of the 1930s f3e1b3768c
