Keymacro is a simple macro recorder/editor that allows you to record keyboard actions, execute them, play them back or even save them to a file. Keymacro is a simple macro recorder/editor that allows you to record keyboard actions, execute them, play them back or even save them to a file. Keymacro allows you to record keys. You can type text in order to make macros, insert text or images, pause or skip to different positions of the recording, jump to different places, or even fill in the application fields with information you receive. The Macros you make in this application can be later executed or played back. They can be saved to a file, or directly sent to a printer or clipboard. Also, you can use the "send to" feature to send macros directly to the built-in Text to Speech system. So, with Keymacro you can: • Freely record keyboard actions; • Create macros to automate repetitive tasks; • Record text, images, dates and time; • Send macros to other applications, printers, or the clipboard; • Copy or play back recorded macros; • Open recently used macros with a single click. To record keyboard actions: - Press a key on the keyboard and release it. - After a short delay, Keymacro records the key you pressed. To edit or play macros: - Click on the play button at the bottom of the editing window. - Click on the play button at the bottom of the playback window. - You can click to stop recording or playing back. Use the sliders on the right side of the editing window to move the macro to different positions in the recording. You can pause the macro or skip to a new position by clicking the pause button at the bottom of the editing window. To stop the Macro at a specific point in time: - Click on the Play button at the bottom of the editing window. - Click on the record button at the bottom of the playback window. - Start typing after the Play button. You can also use the next or previous buttons to jump to a different point in the recording. You can also use the slider on the left side of the editing window to change the speed of the recorded macro. You can save the macros you make in this application to a file or the clipboard. You can also save macros to a file, or directly send them to a printer or 77a5ca646e
