Portable A port of the game for the PlayStation Portable, titled Need for Speed: Most Wanted on the PSP, was released in North America on December 13, 2007, and in Europe on February 12, 2008. It was developed by Criterion and published by EA. The game came bundled with the music album and three-disc soundtrack and a free downloadable game called "Need for Speed Proving Grounds". The port is similar to the console version and features the same gameplay and most of the same online races, as well as some new features. The PlayStation Portable version had a retail price of $59.99. The game's soundtrack was released on April 2, 2008, in both the Game . The soundtrack features music by the likes of R.E.M., Foo Fighters, Little Mix, Basement Jaxx, The Killers, and Bastille. The game takes on a 2005/2006 style rock theme, and is similar to Guitar Hero III. There are several different "Challenge" modes including Hardcore Race, Stunts, Off-Road, Drift, and Hot Pursuit. A new mode called "Proving Grounds" gives players free access to several of the game's secret tracks, offering a final "race" against other players. These tracks are not available for all players in a Free Trial, so the player must wait until they can accept the "Proving Grounds" offer. The player also received an all-new demo mode with online races called "Loadout" in which players can create their own characters, racing style, and customize them with various decals. The Loadout mode allows 3da54e8ca3
