Sweetheart Monitor Crack

Sweetheart Monitor allows two people to share their current mood online. Each person displays their heart on their desktop with varying colors, showing how they are feeling. An Internet connection is required in order for Sweetheart Monitor to work. To use, you'll first need to click on the "Sign In" button on your Sweetheart Monitor Widget, which will bring you to the "Sweetheart Monitor Settings Page". From here, you can edit your account options (such as your username, password, and profile picture), or if you've selected "Invite your friends to share your mood with them" when adding new users, you'll need to invite them to access your mood. You can also remove users from the mood manager by clicking on their name, and delete moods with the "Delete mood" button. Sweetheart Monitor Features: New User Registration – There is no need for new users to register with Sweetheart Monitor. However, you can create and remove new users within the "Sweetheart Monitor Settings Page" when logged in. Profile - Each user has a profile page, allowing them to create, modify, and delete moods on their own desktop. This page is customizable with your account information. Re-sentiment – Mood colors on the Sweetheart Monitor Widget can be changed with the Re-sentiment feature. Friend Preferences – User can request any friends from their chat list to be added as a user within Sweetheart Monitor. Widgets – Users who've added multiple users to their Sweetheart Monitor, or users who've enabled the "Invite your friends to share your mood with them" option can send invites to add new users to the mood as well. Support - Each user who has Sweetheart Monitor installed can log in to the Help forum, where they can ask any questions about the mood widget. Improvements - The Sweetheart Monitor Widget is now rebuilt using Yahoo Widget Engine 2.0, allowing for further usability and ease of use.
