Balanced Stat Generator is a small RPG tool that allows devs to create balanced characters for their RPG titles. Advertisement The program can be used to tweak each of the stats in a character to maintain a balance between the one's HP, AP, ATK, DEFENSE, and MAGIC. It is designed for RPGs and consists of four sections with different purpose - a Base Stat Table, a Simple Stat Table, a Balance Stat Table, and a Help section. Base Stat Table The Base Stat Table section allows devs to adjust each of the stats that determine the potential of a character in the RPG title they are working on. The purpose of this feature is to maintain a balance between the characters. The Base Stat Table contains a table that features default values for the stats. Simple Stat Table The Simple Stat Table section works as an overview of the stats of a character, so devs don't have to worry that they're creating a character with an imbalanced potential. The Basic Stats are aligned horizontally and each of them represents the standard value associated with each stat in the Base Stat Table. Balance Stat Table The Balance Stat Table section features a table that consists of grids, each of which has four stats - Health Points, Attack Points, Defense Points, and Magic Points. For every stat, devs can define a standard value and a range that represents the standard deviation. Help section The Help section has a list of tabs and one-liner info that presents the purpose of the program and some available options. Why not try to download and install it? The program can be downloaded from this website for free. There are tons of games available for your iPhone, iPod touch, or iPad that you can
