Get breaking news and local stories in your inbox! SEATTLE — A former professional hockey player from the Seattle area accused of assaulting a woman in her motel room in the early hours of Wednesday was released Thursday. A Seattle police spokeswoman confirmed Henry Kullman, 28, was released Thursday on $30,000 bail, but declined to provide further information. Kullman is charged with first-degree assault and first-degree burglary, which are both felonies. A

Seattle Times columnist reported that a fourth person was also involved in the incident. Kullman was in King County Jail Wednesday night. It's unclear whether Kullman appeared in court Thursday, but a court commissioner did accept his release. A police report obtained by The Times said Kullman and his teammate, Quentin Alexander, 23, met the woman at 3:30 a.m. at her motel room. She reportedly told them she was a hooker. Alexander allegedly fondled the woman's breasts and pushed her onto the bed. The newspaper reported that Kullman joined the pair in the motel room. He and the woman had consensual sex, then
