978-2-8184-3722-9 (E-Book). Abstract The project has three stages. In the first stage, an international commission of historians, art historians, philosophers, and architects examines the existing material, documents the inventory of the existing physical conditions and generally takes stock of the situation and tasks the commission with the initial revision of the project. In this context a basic plan, presentation of preliminary idea, and preliminary work plan is already prepared. It is assumed that the former stone church, which was built in the 17th century, is no longer suitable for the purpose. On the basis of the current knowledge, the commission submits a proposition for the new stone church building in the style of a Baroque church. In a second, subsequent stage, the project is 1cb139a0ed
