Q: how to do two consecutive total joins? I have the following query: `SELECT t.id , t.created_at , t.gid , SUM(c.fees) AS fees , SUM(c.payments) AS payments , SUM(c.commissions) AS commissions FROM transactions t LEFT JOIN trans_details dd ON dd.transaction_id = t.id LEFT JOIN payment_purchases pp ON pp.transaction_id = t.id LEFT JOIN commission_purchases cp ON cp.transaction_id = t.id LEFT JOIN commission_details cd ON cd.transaction_id = t.id LEFT JOIN fee f ON f.transaction_id = t.id AND f.gid = t.gid LEFT JOIN customer c ON c.id = t.created_by AND c.email = 'xxx@xxx.com' GROUP BY t.id;` This returns the data I want in this format: But I want it to return like this: However, I am having an issue with the following: `LEFT JOIN fee f ON f.transaction_id = t.id AND f.gid = t.gid` If I replace this with: `LEFT JOIN fee f ON f.transaction_id = t.id` It will give me the second format, but it won't sum fees and commissions. A: I don't think you need to join that, I think that you just need to add them to the `GROUP BY` clause. Try this: `SELECT t.id , t.created_at , t.gid , SUM(c.fees) AS fees , SUM(c.payments) AS payments , SUM(c.commissions) AS commissions , f.fees , f.pay`

Q: Multiple IPs for socket.io on Raspberry Pi I have setup a socket.io installation on my Raspberry Pi using node.js. When I have tried to login to the website, I got the error "WebSocket connections to the server are being rejected". I have looked up the problem, and found out that I have to add a line to my `/etc/hosts` file. That line is: `78.190.22.128 myserver.com` But I have 2 IPs on my Raspberry Pi, so if I add it as 1 IP for socket.io, I will get 2 sockets. How can I add two IPs? I have tried this: `192.168.0.x myserver.com 192.168.0.x myserver.com` but it doesn't work. A: You can use many IPs for the same server. You just need to use the broadcast address (`255.255.255.255`) in addition to the private one, like this: `192.168.0.x myserver.com 192.168.0.x myserver.com 192.168.0.x myserver.com 255.255.255.255 myserver.com` The Pi broadcasts to all its ports (`00:00:00:00:00:00`) and all other devices should reply to that broadcast. Edit: You can also change the interface address (the one you use to get the Pi) and the broadcast address on the LAN.
