Additional information: It's been recently that I've had an issue with my blog. I couldn't access it anymore. It was not showing any error messages, it's just not accessible. To resolve the issue I've moved my blog to another hosting server. I've noted that the transfer process didn't went well and there were some issues with website uploading. So I've had to spend a long time to solve this issue. But finally everything is in order and I've been able to transfer my blog to new server. Now I'm able to write new articles and I'm sure that my readers will be able to find my updates easily. I'm very happy that everything is going well. The perfect platform for you to reach out to prospective students is your admissions essay. It is where you can discuss your academic and extracurricular achievements in the past years. However, in order to provide the students with a good impression of you as a person, you must describe your life at home. Here are some pieces of advice which you may find useful: Before you start writing your essays, you need to spend some time searching for information about yourself. What kind of a person are you? What do you do in your free time? Who are your best friends? It is the duty of the essay writer to reveal who you really are and what your life is all about. Be honest about the imperfections In writing about your life, try not to lie. A great thing about the admissions essay is that it is anonymous. Your life is a great topic and you need to open your heart about it. By doing so, you're gaining the best possible advantage and your admissions essay becomes much more interesting to the reader. Tells about your personality If you're writing about your personality, you need to share your thoughts and ideas. It's a good idea to think over your life and what do you do best. Describe your personality with examples, draw a conclusion and you will certainly succeed in the future. Remember to be positive about your weaknesses and showcase them in a constructive way. Include some useful advice Do not miss out on telling useful information. It's not uncommon that students fail to describe something which would make them more attractive to the future employer. Include about your life in the essay and give a positive outlook. Don♦
