What's New in the?

After many hours of hard work, we are proud to introduce you the latest version of Sondle Screen Assist: Sondle Screen Assist 1.2.2, a screen recording software tool that can record your entire desktop and save the result as AVI video files or as BMP or JPEG screen images. Use the newly added Resize Window option to resize the recording area, which is useful if you want to capture a smaller part of your desktop activity Add a notification area to see a status bar with program's current recording status Sondle Screen Assist is an easy-to-use screen recording software tool that allows you to record your entire desktop and save the resulting video file to your hard drive. It works with all modern video files, it is compatible with all video capture cards, including USB ones and has no limits on file size. The first thing you see when launching Sondle Screen Assist is a wizard, which is a prerequisite to start using the application. This wizard enables you to input a custom recording area, which will be used to capture the screen activity. In addition to the capture area, the wizard also has a number of other options. You can enable or disable the screen drawing window, you can change the resolution of the recorded video, and choose the output format and file name. You can also use the Resize Window option, which lets you resize the capture area to a certain size and position it on the screen. While it is not possible to use this option if the capture area is in the center of the screen, it is possible to change its position and scale, which is very convenient if you want to save a smaller part of the screen activity. You can also use the Record while Playing option, which lets you record your desktop while it is being displayed on the screen. This can be a real advantage for people that want to record tutorials or demos. If you want to see a bigger picture, you can use the preview window, which shows you a real-time view of what will be recorded. It is possible to use this window in the Full Screen mode, which has a number of features: it will keep the capture area in the center of the screen, it will start the recording when you press a hot key, and it will stop the recording if you press another hot key. When it comes to the output format, the program has three choices: AVI video files, BMP images and JPEG screen snapshots. All of them can be easily saved to your computer and can be easily played back using any software package. Since the size of the AVI video files is limited by the video capture card, you can always convert the resulting video files to other formats, such as MP4 or WMV. The program uses a floating main window to display its status bar and controls. All of the options are arranged in a logical way to make it easy to use and navigate around the program
