keymacro is a program that lets you save your Hotmail messages (both chat and inbox) to a text file.

keymacro allows you to customize the file name, e-mail address, and date for the files. Also, you can select where to save the file, e.g. desktop or another folder. This is very useful if you want to access the files from anywhere in the world. keymacro also allows you to filter your Hotmail messages. The messages are stored in the Windows Notepad text format (.txt). There is no need to have .NET Framework 3.5 installed to use keymacro. Open the folder where you want to save the file. If the folder already contains files, they will be overwritten. Select the folder where you want to save your Hotmail messages. On the folder, click "File", select "New", select "Notepad" Enter the following: [?] The name of the file you want to save the Hotmail messages to. (for example, "hotmail.txt"). [?] The email address to use to save the Hotmail messages to. (for example, "username@hotmail.com") [?] The date of the Hotmail messages you want to save to. (for example, "01/01/2010") Select the desired Hotmail messages from the list. To clear the list, click "Clear". Select "Save" to save the Hotmail messages to a file. You can also choose to save the Hotmail messages as a Microsoft Office Outlook.pst file, a Outlook Express.pst file, or a text file. You can also choose to append, or overwrite the existing file, depending on your needs. Hotmail messages are transferred to the Hotmail text format (.txt) and saved on the designated location.

keymacro requires the .NET Framework 3.5 on the computer where you want to use it to be installed. Keymacro is freeware.
However, if you want to remove ads, change the preferences, or enable a help feature, you'll need to purchase Keymacro. You can
