What's New In Anonymity 4 Proxy?

The program is similar to TorBrowser and Privoxy, but with the following improvements: - Much faster. The application uses a native API called AgobotNET, which is a high-performance replacement of the old AgobotAPI that was used by a previous version of the program (agobot4). - More features: import/export of remote servers, filters to search for specific IP blocks, ability to choose the best proxy for the current request, the ability to request special proxies that a proxy server might return, etc. - The program can be used for anonymity when downloading and/or uploading files. - Unique graphical interface in comparison to Privoxy and TorBrowser. - Randomize the GUI in high-speed mode. - New version with option to select from multiple databases for server lists. - Anonymity options that allow you to choose from 3 types of anonymity. - New option to stop request monitoring. - Ability to view the list of plugins that are installed. - Improved proxy database loading speed. - Improved speed of interface elements. - Speed optimization of some elements of the program. - Display of server protocol support. - Advanced/fuzzy search functions. - Speed optimization of database. - "Hide user agent" option. - Profile system. - New options. - Compatibility with Windows Vista. - Firefox 2.0.0.x and IE 7.0.x are supported. - New database formats (XML and SQLite). Comments: The program is a continuation of the TorAnonPlus addon of old version of the program. Anonymity is the foundation of anonymity. Without anonymity we cannot speak freely, surf the web freely, etc. By blocking domains and IP addresses we can reduce the number of items that are thrown at us. For example, if we add our own website to a block list, we can prevent all the spam emails that come from those IP addresses. We can block any IP addresses that don't belong to us. However, we cannot know if the IP address that we choose to block is an important one or a spammer one. No way to know who the address belongs to. Even if we block the IP address we cannot be sure that he will get angry and stop sending spam to us. This program helps in achieving anonymity. It can show us which addresses are used for sending spam to us and which are not. You can choose to either block the addresses completely or just the IP addresses that come from a certain source. This means that you can really protect yourself against any number of spamming addresses. Anonymity is all about building walls that will protect you from certain websites.
