

Category:SkyrimQ: How to style items within a ListView when the items are not necessarily displayed on the screen at the same time? I have a ListView of items, but I don't want the user to see all of them at once. For example, I have a list of keywords, so I don't want to show every single keyword in the list of keywords on the screen at once. I can put some padding around each keyword and have it be visible, but I'm wondering if I can apply a background color or something to the words, so that they are more visible. Right now, I have the padding set to 0px. I would like to change that. Below is my code.
