"Our team has been playing very well," Lambas said. "We're hopeful that the effects of the Labour Day weekend — it's a little bit of a holiday, and maybe everyone's a little bit more relaxed — won't have too many effects on our squad in terms of competitiveness. We feel that we have an advantage over the other teams." The Als and Hamilton Tiger-Cats will play on Saturday, with the Als trying to stop Hamilton from claiming the 2016 Grey Cup at Tim Hortons Field. Lambas said the added relaxation factor is a positive. "So I think that's a good thing for the team," Lambas said. "Especially with the psychological side of things." He said there's a chance a six-year contract offer signed by the team Thursday to be completed soon could be the first of a three-year, fixed extension that brings stability to the relationship. "I think it's a positive step forward for football in the country," Lambas said. "The Alouettes have been probably the leading CFL team. We're really proud of our product." 09e8f5149f

Developers of 32-bit Delphi applications who are used to programming under the Windows NT operating system with the help of the TRegistry components from Borland Inc. will find using the new TNTRegistry component from TOT a lot easier. While Borland's TRegistry is a 32-bit component, TNTRegistry is a 64-bit component which is written specifically to make it easy to use the Windows registry APIs from within a Delphi application, regardless of whether the source code for the Delphi application is 32-bit or 64-bit. TNTRegistry is programmed in the Delphi Pascal dialect and written in the form of an open source library. TOT provides an easy to use API to access the Windows registry. The new TNTRegistry is written in the same high-quality Delphi Pascal programming language as TOT and is fully compatible with it. TOT has a library of over 400 components and utilities written in Delphi Pascal. TNTRegistry has been tested extensively. It works correctly with all the Delphi 4, Delphi 5 and Delphi 7 versions. If you have an application that requires Delphi 3 compatibility, you need to use the '-96' compiler switch for Delphi 5 and older versions. If you are using Borland Delphi 4 or 5, you must use the '-64' compiler switch. TOT is currently in beta testing. The final version is expected to be released by the end of 1999. TNTRegistry Component Features: TRegistry compatibility TNTRegistry is a Delphi 3 component that provides full compatibility with the built-in Borland TRegistry component. TOT provides a fully compatible 64-bit version of the TRegistry component, and can be used in place of the Borland component in Borland Delphi 4 or 5 applications. TNTRegistry implements the registry APIs in the same manner as the Borland TRegistry component. This allows developers to use the existing TOT API with their existing TOT library components and tools. This means that when you use the TOT API in your applications, it works in a similar manner to the way the Borland TRegistry API works. You can use the TOT API to read and write data to the Windows registry, modify registry settings and execute the 32-bit and 64-bit registry virtual
