The Adobe Presets panel (located on the Custom menu) allows you to load any of the preset design templates, such as Figure 2-5. These templates make Photoshop much easier to use, and you can manipulate them as you wish. Figure 2-5: You can use Photoshop's Presets panels to load the preset templates. When you open a new document, Photoshop creates a unique file for that specific document. The location of your Photoshop files are based on the setting within the Photoshop program. You can select to store your file in the following locations:

- The desktop or laptop desktop
- A specific folder on the hard drive
- A specific folder on the networked computer

After you store your file on the computer, you need to specify the `_version_` of Photoshop to use. This version number refers to the software version that is installed on the machine. For example, CS5 refers to Adobe Photoshop CS5. You can use the default value or look up the version information in the following list:

- Photoshop CS5 is version 13.1
- Photoshop CS5 Extended is version 13.1
- Photoshop CS5 for web is version 13.1
- Photoshop CS5 for Macintosh is version 13.1
- Photoshop CS5 for Windows is version 13.1
- Photoshop CS6 is version 14.1

The following sections describe the various options that you can use to manage your file. Choosing a location The application can use a variety of locations to store the files created. You can choose one of the following locations:

- The desktop or laptop desktop
- A specific folder on the hard drive
- A specific folder on the networked computer

You must use either the Macintosh or Windows operating system. For more information on the Macintosh operating system, see Chapter 9. Select the New Document location if you want to store the new file in the Documents folder in your hard drive (but it stores the file in the temporary folder). Select the New File Location location if you want to store the new file in a specific folder in your computer. You must have the application open in order to select a location. If you store a file in a location other than the desktop location, click the Standard icon located at the bottom of the Photoshop window. You can also save a file to a specific folder on a networked add a day from month and year in a MySQL table? I have an example of a table with a column year and month. And I'd like to add a day to the column current_day. If the example year-month is 2017-01, then the result should be 2017-01-01. Wouldn't it be efficient to add 1 to the month and add 1 to the year and create a new column year-month, then use a SELECT to create the new column? Is this possible? Is there a more efficient way? A: Try this code: ALTER TABLE `myTable` ADD COLUMN `current_day` DATETIME NOT NULL DEFAULT CURRENT_TIMESTAMP ON UPDATE CURRENT_TIMESTAMP; INSERT INTO `myTable` (`year`, `month`, `current_day`) VALUES ('2017', '01', CURRENT_TIMESTAMP); Or you can directly use below query: INSERT INTO `myTable` (`year`, `month`, `current_day`) VALUES ('2017', '01', CURRENT_TIMESTAMP + INTERVAL 1 DAY); Keep in mind that CURRENT_TIMESTAMP changes if you have column update enabled

. I have heard that some people who have had some experience with FBO's always seem to like them just because of that. That being said, you can't swing a dead cat without hitting at least one Cessna 'ex' plane. And I think that is about as good as it gets. Who is online You cannot post new topics in this forum You cannot reply to topics in this forum You cannot edit your posts in this forum You cannot delete your posts in this forum You cannot post attachments in this forum I'm frustrated by the design of the page: Most of the page is white space, but if you read the page, you have to scroll down to the end to get information. The top half of the page is a list of spaces, the bottom half is a list of the current pending space listings. For some reason, "Search" and "Select" arrows are only on the left side. If the listing is a write-off, it's a little difficult to see what does "Complete" (for write-offs) or "Not Delivered" (to be re-listed) mean. The space listings are in the left column; there's a lot of blank space in the right column, and there is also the title of the parent listing. I'd put "Parent Listing" up in the top right. The "Search" and "Select" arrows point down towards the table, so the table, when collapsed, fills most of the right column. Right now, there's a very narrow "hanging space" between the left and right columns. This is a problem when the table gets large. When you click on the listing of a space, it has to scroll down, not to the bottom of the page. When you try to "Select" a space, it takes you to the main page. (I may not be explaining this very well, because I'm writing this on a computer I don't have space on to try to see if it helps.) B.B.
