Field of the Invention This invention relates to an aerator and, more particularly, to a suspension membrane aerator for aerating of sludge and wastewater of a sewage disposal plant. 2. Description of Related Art Suspension membrane aerators, as a kind of aerators, are widely used for aerating sludge and wastewater of a sewage disposal plant. Referring to FIG. 1, a conventional suspension membrane aerator comprises a cylindrical box body 12 and a cylindrical hollow rod 11. The box body 12 has an upper opening (not shown) and a lower opening 121 formed on opposite ends thereof. A suspension membrane 121 is arranged in the box body 12, and a blowing opening 122 is formed on a bottom surface of the box body 12. A suspension channel 123 is formed between the suspension membrane 121 and the blowing opening 122, and a pump 13 is provided for sucking air to be blown out of the suspension channel 123 through the blowing opening 122. The hollow rod 11 is hollow and rod-shaped, and a plurality of open-closed holes 124 are formed on a bottom surface thereof. An outlet sleeve 13 is movably arranged in the hollow rod 11 and has a plurality of outlet ports 1231, which communicate with the suspension channel 123 and the hollow rod 11, respectively. Referring to FIG. 2, a conventional suspension membrane aerator must be manually operated to pump the sludge and wastewater. Specifically, a user must move the hollow rod 11 and the outlet sleeve 13 from an un-shown position to a position shown in FIG. 2 to take in the sludge and wastewater. Then, the user must move the hollow rod 11 and the outlet sleeve 13 from the position shown in FIG. 2 to a position shown in FIG. 1 to blow out air to be sucked from the suspension channel 123. Besides, the user must move the hollow rod 11 and the outlet 1c

Field of the Invention This invention relates to the fields of molecular biology and medicine. More specifically, the invention relates to compositions comprising a monoclonal antibody or fragment thereof and a nucleic acid sequence. The compositions find use in treatment of cancers. Description of Related Art The nuclei of eukaryotic cells generally have three levels of DNA-protein interactions. First is the chromatin fiber which is formed by nucleosomes, the basic unit of chromatin, which are arranged in an ordered, repeating array of 146 bp. Second is the interphase chromosome which is attached to the nuclear matrix, a network of structural elements that may facilitate DNA access to the transcriptional machinery. Finally, DNA interacts with the nucleus in the form of transcription factories, large aggregates of transcription factors. As a group, these functions are frequently referred to as “transcription”. Transcription is the process in which messenger RNA (mRNA) is produced from a DNA template (synthesis). This process is commonly divided into initiation, elongation, and termination phases. Transcription in higher eukaryotes is initiated by a RNA polymerase that binds to a site called the TATA box within the promoter region of DNA. Transcription is subsequently catalyzed by other proteins that

The Tories are advising businesses to beware a surge of opposition activity during the election. The Tories are advising businesses to beware a surge of opposition activity during the election. The party's head of campaigning and electioneering Steve Hilton says Tory candidates could be put under a real threat if opinion polls show support for the other parties. He told Good Morning Britain: "It's two to one or more against you." "If things are looking bad and your candidate's not performing, whether you're a Conservative or an independent, it's quite hard to get a candidate elected – especially if you're not a major party. "There are just these large numbers of independents, as well as the Liberal Democrats and Greens who are forming this coalition." Hilton said the main threat to the Conservatives came from UKIP but that his party could be better prepared than other parties. "There's a danger the other parties feel a temptation to poach our most successful candidates", he said. "That's exactly the sort of thing that can happen. The danger for us is at the end of the day, Labour will do anything to win but it's also a sign of things to come for us," he said. David
