This will be the first double-blind, placebo-controlled study of aprotinin. This study will be concerned with 2 specific types of bleeding disorders. First, it will evaluate the efficacy of aprotinin in high risk surgical patients with acute myocardial infarction, recent cerebral vascular accident or trauma, and hematologic disorders resulting in increased susceptibility to bleeding. Second, this study will use the same methodology to evaluate the efficacy of aprotinin in patients with long-term recurring bleeding associated with congenital disorders such as hemophilia A, von Willebrands disease, and hypercoagulability states.
