always going to succeed. What separates them from the crowd is that they know what they're doing. They have skills, but they also have the desire to keep learning new skills and the personal drive to make their ideas a reality. That's what makes people successful in the video game business. If you have the ability to make a game, and you also have the drive to keep learning and improving yourself, it's only a matter of time before you find yourself in front of a project that you're very interested in. Then comes the hard part. There's a lot of competition. It's not going to be easy to find work. That's the part where the video game business doesn't quite prepare you for what it's going to be like. You can't go up against companies the size of Sony and Nintendo and expect to win. This is a business where the quality of your work matters. If you can come up with a great idea and your skills are good, then you're going to be the one who ends up landing the work. Many of the people who play games are the ones who need something new to play. You can apply that same logic to yourself. Look at the thing you enjoy the most. That's the type of game you should be working on. Learn what's going on in the industry. That's another way to get the work you need without having to apply to so many different companies. When you've gotten your feet wet with doing a job, you'll have all the skills necessary to move up and apply to jobs like this and get that contract. Once you've decided on what game you want to make, you're going to need to find something that will help you achieve your goals. There is no shortage of

In this 32 Hindi short film director Neeraj Pandey The movie is about Dharamvir.Q: Detecting a click of a EditText that does not belong to the current activity I have a simple activity with a view (main layout). I'm using a TextView and an EditText. When I press the TextView a View of the Main Layout is shown. When I press the EditText a dialog box with the content of the EditText should appear. My problem is that i want to also detect clicks of the EditText. Because, when i press the EditText a dialog box should appear, but not a separate layout but only a textbox. But it also needs to be a clickable object. This is the code I'm using now:

TextView text = (TextView) findViewById(R.id.TextView01); EditText et = (EditText) findViewById(R.id.EditText01); text.setOnClickListener(new OnClickListener() { @Override public void onClick(View v) { dialog = new Dialog(MyActivity.this); dialog.setContentview(R.layout.textview_dialog); dialog.setTitle(R.string.enteredText); editText = (EditText) dialog.findViewById(R.id.DialogText); editText.setHint("Enter a caption for your image."); editText.setOnClickListener(this);
