City Discusses Proposed Starbucks Expansion OCEAN CITY — While many people might disagree with how local officials handled the current construction project, the proposed One Maryland Walk commercial project at 280 West 10th Street isn't the type of retail expansion that many residents might be opposed to. “[The development] is not the right fit for the way we have decided to do business,” said Mayor Rick Meehan. “This isn't the kind of thing we would have done.” But a local bar owner has been bringing the issue up for months at the Ocean City Development Review Board (ODRB) meetings. “We should have done it at some point,” said ODRB Chairman Bill Day. “But I don’t think anyone expected it to come up in such a form.” The proposed Starbucks will sit along the walk between 410 and 420 West 10th Street, which is directly across from the current Starbucks. According to a Town of Ocean City press release, the bar owner who first brought up the issue is concerned about the safety of his customers. “The long term effect of this project is the displacement of the existing businesses that are a part of that historical area,” said Day.

“They may want to expand, but there’s no room there.” Though the Starbucks won’t be much bigger than its current location, it will be much closer to the bar and restaurant. “It’s very problematic for the bars, it’s all the parking right out in front and a bus stop too,” said the bar owner. He said he had approached Starbucks about buying the lot next door before the proposal was presented to the board. “I asked them about it a couple of weeks ago and they said it's a $4 million project that they're going to expand," he said. "But it's only on the paperwork that they're going to do it. If they don't do it, they won't be allowed." The bar owner contends that the board needs to do more investigation into the proposal. "It's very difficult to understand," he said. "This is a planned community and everybody knows what the rules are,
