Mar 4, 2012. 1f55a765e1. kshared (CNK) LeBron James tried to talk to the construction workers on the roof of the Promise School in Akron, Ohio, after the basketball star arrived at the facility earlier this month. The Promise School opened for the 2019-2020 school year on September 5, and the LeBron James Family Foundation has donated more than $35 million to renovate and equip the school for at least 780 students. There's a slight catch, though. The construction workers on the roof don't speak English. "He was on the roof, and we just started talking and just chatting, and he was able to communicate well with those people," Akron Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Brett Lopez told CNN. "He had a chance to say hi, to tell them he's going to be a part of the school. And it was a great moment." Later, James "conducted an interview with the workers, during the school year, via a large speaker on the roof," Dr. Lopez said. Guitar flamethrower Bruce Springsteen has been sounding off about how now-maligned electric guitar can be heard all over the house. NAMM's Session Orange featured B's show at the Valslide booth, and the grooves from those performances were all about the Valslide. On the B's "Glory Days" session, the guitarist is seen picking and strumming the Valslide more than any other instrument. Do the gadgets sound too loud on "Glory Days"? A footnote says: "It's not a guitar amp, Bruce explained later. "It's more about the effects." For "Tougher Than the Rest" (check the track), NAMM attendees would get to hear the Valslide amp and effect features on full blast, and if you're in a band with Bruce, you'd better steer clear of that song or you're going to have to start earning your keep with a different kind of gig.

The special mission for the New Delhi air force aircraft was not declassified till now. But due to this new revelation, the people have started their new quest to know more about this large-scale mission. The working of RRA product line is well-known by the people, it is used for the composition of gas tanks. But this is the first time that a very modern and advanced new generation RRA tank has been installed in a IAF aircraft. Such tanks are installed to ensure that the aircraft is safe against the usage of liquid or any kind of poisonous gasses in its under-seas usage. India is one of the major nations that is going to become the second-largest market for the RRA tanks in the world in the near future. And the RRA's cooperation with the US is only going to ensure that their domestic level of technology is going to be upgraded. But now with this revelation, the IAF will be able to make it its largest use of the RRA products in the near future.Q: sending username and password in ajax post request using php I want to send username and password in ajax post request using php and I want to show the username and password in other page but my request is not working. here is my ajax code $('search').click(function () { var user_name = $("#username").val(); var password = $("#password").val(); //alert("user_name = "+user_name+" password = "+password); if (user
